Our Mission
North Carolina Cooperative Extension is an educational partnership helping people put research-based knowledge to work for economic prosperity, environmental stewardship and an improved quality of life. Extension is a public outreach service of North Carolina State University, North Carolina A&T State University and Alamance County.

Our Priorities
To strengthen the economy through profitable, sustainable and safe food, forest and green industry systems.
To protect the environment and natural resources.
To empower youth and families to lead healthier lives and become community leaders.

The Alamance County Extension Staff delivers educational programs through public meetings and workshops. We also use the mass media, the Internet, and provide personal consultations to deliver information. Expert assistance is provided on the topics noted above. We provide diagnostic and identification services through our Plant Disease and Insect Clinic.

Volunteers affiliated with Extension:
• Master Gardeners
• Extension Community Association
• 4-H Volunteers
